Different housing repair funds currently available

BY TRACI BONNEY

There seems to be some confusion among the public about housing improvement grant funds now available.

Hancock County and the City of Bay St. Louis, as separate entities, have applied for Community Development Block Grant funds to be used by low- to moderate-income private homeowners for housing improvements. The funds have not been awarded to either the city or the county at this point, although both have submitted their applications.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward Favre and a spokesperson for the county both said they do not expect to hear from the state until after the first of the year. The money will not be given until after notification of acceptance.

The county took in about 245 applications from homeowners and submitted them along with the county application August 30. Bay St. Louis is conducting its application slightly differently. It submitted an application September 26 without the homeowners' applications, and is currently accepting applications from homeowners.

The funds awarded, if any are, will be used to repair and rehabilitate houses to bring them up to health, safety and utility economy standards and to provide accessibility for handicapped persons where needed.

According to Favre, there is a $500,000 limit for each municipality accepted. This means 30 to 50 homeowners will be eligible for $10,000 to $15,000 each for the work on their homes.

These homeowners will be rated case by case to determine where the most need lies.

Both the city and the county have relied primarily on word-of-mouth to advertise the possible availability of the funds.

PUBLIC HOUSING

Another type of funding, the Comprehensive Improvement Assistance Program, has been awarded to Regional Housing Authority No. VIII and to Bay St. Louis to modernize and upgrade their public housing projects.

Regional Housing Authority No. VIII serves a 15-county area that includes Hancock County.

These funds are strictly for public housing renovation, and have nothing to do with the Community Development Block Grant being applied for by the city and the county.

Hancock seniors' center provides basics in caring

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Tucked away behind the Bay St. Louis Fire and Police Departments on Old Spanish Trail is a special place of sanctuary for Hancock County's elderly community.

The Hancock County Senior Citizens Center is busy five days a week distributing nourishment, friendship and caring to approximately 60 county residents.

Eve McDonald will mark her 20th year as director of the center, this coming February.

McDonald's primary job is to fight the coils of bureaucracy for the funds needed to maintain activities at the center and provide home care services for Hancock's seniors.

It is also her job to identify needs within this area and to find approaches to address those needs.

Home care is the most essential of the functions provided, McDonald stated.

At this time the center has two senior aides, contracted through the United Methodist Senior Services of Mississippi Inc. for 20 hours of work per week, at minimum wage, to visit the home bound.

The aides provide assistance with grocery shopping, bill paying and light cleaning, along with the most obvious of needs—company—for those unable to leave their homes.

"Unfortunately," McDonald added, "the aides are limited to

Steel: store contests not seen as lotteries

BY TRACI BONNEY

Although state law prohibits possession of Louisiana and Florida lottery tickets, or items and literature promoting the lotteries, within the borders of Mississippi, grocery store and fast food contests are safe.

Jim Steel of the state attorney general's office explained that store and restaurant promotional contests are not considered lotteries.

"You don't have to buy anything to get those (game pieces). That's one big difference right there," he stated.

In other words, lottery players purchase their lottery tickets; whereas giveaway contest players don't buy their game pieces.

So, there's no need to "burn the evidence" of your participation in Gamera or whatever contest is currently running in the stores and fast food places. You won't be arrested.

Reaching new heights

Haas: United Way of Hancock County sets its largest campaign goal

BY TRACI BONNEY

United Way is reaching higher, and asking the community to reach deeper.

The United Way of Hancock County has set a goal of $140,000 for this year's campaign. This is an increase from last year's goal of $110,000, and also exceeds the pledge total of $124,460, received.

Although the area is encounterative overhead; that's one reason we're so effective in what we do. More of our money is used to serve the agencies."

The organization's goal includes money from individuals, but also from other sources, such as the combined federal campaign and United Ways in other areas.

Haas said the money from other United Ways comes pri-

Orleans is the local United Way's biggest out-of-town supporter — $12,700 in pledges came from that company last year — while Bay Technical Associates and G.E. Plastics are the two biggest supporters locally, Haas said.

The United Way of Hancock County serves 23 member agencies, including the American Red Cross, Gulf Coast Chapter; Catholic Social and Community Services, Inc.; Epilepsy Foundation of Mississippi; Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi, Inc.; Gulf Coast Mental Health Center; Gulf Coast Women's Center; Gulf Pines Girl Scout Task Force; Hancock County Council; Hancock Community Youth

Adam selected UW 1st vice chair

BY TRACI BONNEY

A.C. Adam is enthusiastic about being selected as United Way first vice chairman.

Adam, who was appointed to the post Monday, commented, "I'm excited and challenged by it. The thing that has always excited me about United Way is that people see their money go to work in the community, with the vast majority of the funds going back to the agencies."

"The challenge is that we are in an economic time when it is tough for people to find extra dollars to give to charities."

"The reason I support United Way is that it is managed better than other charities. Administrative costs are kept very low, with 85 to 90 percent of the funds raised going to the agencies and only 10 to 15 percent paying for overhead."

As first vice chairman, Adam is a right-hand man of sorts for campaign chairman Mike Haas Jr., a local attorney.

"My job as first vice chairman is to assist the chairman in any way I can during the campaign."

Adam is very focused in his community efforts. His organization memberships number only four, but they are four very effective groups: United Way, the Diamondhead Rotary Club, the Gulfport Exchange Club and the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, of which he is a director.

The general manager of Gerry Lane Motors, Adam has been in automobile sales for more than 20 years. Born in Texas, he has lived in DeLisle for 2½ years with his wife Sheila. They have three sons and two daughters, ranging in age from 15 to 30.

"Yes, times are tight; but I think that as people look around and see the need...they will be willing to give."

—Haas

tering a lean economy these days, United Way campaign chairman Mike Haas Jr. is confident that the organization will reach its goal.

"Yes, times are tight; but I think that as people look around and see the need, and see how United Way is helping meet that need, they will be willing to give."

Haas said between 85 and 90 percent of every dollar raised by United Way stays in the county. "We have very little administra-tionally in the form of pledges made by people who work in other counties but live here and want their donations to come back to Hancock County. However, many people don't designate where their pledges should go, he added.

"There's a big push in United Way this year to educate people about designating that their pledge go back to where they live. Some people don't realize you can do that."

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

How God cares for us

The fun of crabbing, the excitement of the whole atmosphere around the waters of Bayou Vienvenu was so engrossing that the five-year-old girl forgot to take special care of her footing. In the twinkling of an eye, she had fallen flush into the water and was being swept away by the current.

Alarmed and frantic, her eight-year-old cousin jumped in to rescue her, only to discover that the current was too much for her too, immediately dragging her under.

This was too much for 31-year-old Katherine Placide to take sitting down. Plunging in after the girls, she pulled toward them, but was likewise sucked under by the current.

Although people do not like to be told this, it must be told again. No one, especially the very young, should fish or do anything else around dangerous bodies of water without wearing a life jacket—at all times.

However, there is a piece of business to be taken care of before daring to be around deep water, especially in a place like New Orleans where this incident happened. Like it or not, you had better learn to swim well enough to survive.

Putting on a life jacket then becomes the second gear of good sense, adding some insurance to one's safety.

A friend jolted me recently when, in the very context of discussing the Bayou Vienvenu incident, she explained how her father often took her fishing when she was little.

"There is a life jacket," he would point toward one side of the boat. "Put it on immediately
if someone from the Coast Guard comes."

"I cannot believe you!" I almost shouted at her. "I just cannot believe your father told you to do that!"

"Well, he did," she assured me. "And that is what he told me every time we went fishing."

Where does the providence, the loving care of God come in here? Does it enter at all? Can we reasonably hope that God will care for us if we do not care for ourselves?

Mysteriously, an overwhelming number of those who claim that they believe implicitly in the providence of God ignore the most elementary rules of safety and self-preservation.

Worse, some people even ridicule those who take pains to follow such rules, such as the speed limits set by the Highway Safety Commission. It is bewildering to see how routine offenders try to put others on a guilt trip.

In spite of all hard, compelling evidence, it has been impossible heretofore to convince the majority of people that wearing seat belts saves thousands of lives each year.

Myriads of people cruise habitually in the fast lane, or passing lane, although it is not only against the law but very dangerous for themselves and for people who must pass.

Will God help us against our every effort to thwart human and divine assistance alike?
Will God intervene at times of danger in the face of our raw, unabashed negligence?

Presumption is a sin which we rarely discuss, because we tend to focus on that most serious of all sins, despair, and those more obnoxious sins such as hatred and personal injury.

Yet, presumption is a very dangerous sin in its own right, perhaps all the more because it is so sneaky. We cannot afford to insult God by asking for what we ourselves should do.

Healing-through-art workshop set for October 4-6 at Serenity

Serenity Gallery will host a three-day program dealing with healing through art October 4-6.

Friday, Oct. 4 from 6:30 to 8 p.m., a free community education program; Healing Through Art: Creativity in Recovery from Childhood Trauma, will introduce the general public to the power of applied creativity and artistic expression in recovery from neglect, abuse and trauma suffered by adult survivors of dysfunctional families of origin.

Dr. Stephen Southern will discuss the theory, clinical experience and artwork of Alice Miller, author of The Drama of the Gifted Child and The Untouched Key. Southern will also present the artwork of Dorthea Tanning, a surrealist painter who seems to capture the experience of sexual abuse, as well as the artwork produced by survivors of sexual trauma while they were in psychotherapy.

A workshop will be held Saturday, Oct. 5, from 1 to 6 p.m. the workshop will offer lecture, audiovisual presentation, group discussion and creative arts therapy.

Southern will lead participants to explore the nature of part-personalities, the "inner cast of characters," created by the fragmentation, loss, encapsulation and repetition compulsion associated with childhood neglect and trauma.

The workshop will be conducted in a safe, supportive environment. Techniques to be used during the day include active imagination, dreamwork, creative arts, psychodrama and group discussion. Call 1-800-962-9552 for registration and fee information.

Sunday, Oct. 6, Serenity Gallery and Bookstore will offer an exhibit of selected artwork by survivors of childhood trauma. Works to be shown range from drawing and painting to poetry and performance art, much of which is submitted anonymously.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I am still hearing a lot of flack from fishermen about the size limitations on speckled trout.

A couple weeks ago I received a telephone call from Sam Nighiazio, a fishing buddy of mine for many years. Sam and I were regular fishing buddies for about 15 years and really caught our share of speckled trout and redfish.

Our favorite spots were around the mouth of the Jourdan River and the Bay of St. Louis.

Sam reports that he and others have been catching trout, but the majority of them are under the 14-inch size limit.

He says that he sure hates to have to throw back the undersized trout, when he knows that many of them will die.

Sam had a very large well on his boat, and we always had a number of trout die before we would dock at Joe's Bayou.

Sam said that he is hoping the size limit on speckled trout will be reduced at least to 12 inches like neighboring Louisiana, because his wife as well as many others like to eat trout of that size.

Since Sam has retired, he is regularly fishing along the beach and Yacht Club. Keep trying Sam, I know you will catch a few large ones, and who knows, the size limit may be reduced.

The thing that amazes me is the fact that so many folks have been talking about how nice it is since the cool mornings have arrived.

It seems there is a larger number of folks taking advantage of the cooler weather and using the walking track.

Early in the morning and also evenings and nights are popular times for many walkers.

I enjoy using the track, just wish I would have known the importance of walking about 30 years ago.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Congress must repeal Johnson Act

This year, Americans will pump more money into the lucrative cruise ship industry than any other country in the world. Nearly 80 percent of all passengers boarding cruise ships anywhere in the world are Americans. However, less than two percent of those passengers will set foot on the decks of an American-flag ship.

In the late 1940's and early 1950's, things were much different. The United States boasted of having one of the world's greatest ocean liner fleets.

But in the early 1950's, the Johnson Act prohibited American-flag ships with gaming devices on board from sailing into international waters. The demise of the U.S. cruise ship industry began.

Today, 98 percent of all cruise ship calling on American ports are foreign registered and everyone of them has gaming devices on board. I believe that it is ironic that Americans can't participate in an industry they so strongly support with their dollars.

For the United States to regain the advantage it once enjoyed, Congress must first repeal the Johnson Act.

Secondly, Congress must amend the Cabotage Laws. These laws enacted during the late 1700's reserved all commerce specifically for American-flag vessels in U.S. territorial waters.

Over the years an exemption has been granted—you guess it, to foreign flagged cruise ships. Foreign made, crewed and owned ships are doing what America is prohibited by law from doing in U.S. waters.

As a member of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, I have co-sponsored the U.S. Flag Cruise Ship Safety and Competitiveness Act which would allow Americans an opportunity to compete with foreign-flag operators.

The legislation would allow for American ownership; the vessels must be built in U.S. shipyards; U.S. citizens would crew the ocean liners; the vessels must be repaired in the U.S. and passenger safety must meet U.S. Coast Guard standards. The legislation would be a boom to the Coast's shipbuilding industry, creating jobs for hundreds, if not thousands of Coast shipyard workers.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast has four of the finest shipyards in the entire U.S. and has always prided itself on its shipbuilding. Mississippi shipyards would certainly win contracts to build ocean liners if only given the chance.

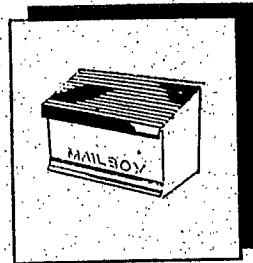

I believe that in the next decade we will see the rebirth of America's cruise ship industry if Congress approves the U.S. flag Cruise Ship Safety and Competitiveness Act.

America can compete and regain its position in the cruise ship industry if only given the opportunity.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Put dockside vote controversy aside; let's make it work!

Dear Editor,

If a statement is read in The Sea Coast Echo and The Sun Herald and heard on TV Station WLOX numerous times, most everyone assumes it is a true fact.

The most recent use of the statement "Bay St. Louis voted against dockside gaming," was in a letter to the editor of The Sun Herald on Sept. 19 and in The Sea Coast Echo the week before.

It would be a good public service if one of the reporters from the news media or from TV Station WLOX would search the voting records and once and for all answer the question.

I believe this is what they will find: Bay St. Louis residents voted in eight precincts. In precincts 15, 29, 20, 21 and 26, in which only residents of Bay St. Louis voted, 2,024 votes were cast, 1,013 were for and 1,011 were against, or a two-vote plurality for gaming.

Also, in precincts 18, 22 and 23 which is made up of Bay St. Louis and unincorporated Bay St. Louis, 914 votes were cast; 564 were for and 410 against, or a plurality of 154 votes for dockside gaming.

How many of the 154 votes for dockside gaming came from residents of Bay St. Louis proper is impossible to determine. However, it seems clear that out of the 242 vote majority cast for gaming in Hancock County, 156 of them came from precincts in which Bay St. Louis residents voted.

This does not coincide with the often-repeated statement that "Bay St. Louis residents rejected dockside gaming."

Isn't it time to combine our energies to make this new industry work for everyone in Hancock County?

Very truly yours,
William R. Lady
Bay St. Louis

Keep gambling facilities in county, not city

To the Editor:

Since the hurried-up, and now generally admitted much-flawed legislation legalizing commercial dockside (?) (a dock is described in the dictionary as, "a pier or piers that receive a ship for loading, unloading or repairs"—note "for gambling" is not included in the definition of a dock.) gambling failed to get a majority vote in Bay St. Louis and only got a small majority in Hancock County, and

Since many now believe that had our citizens known before this vote what we do now about the likelihood of accelerated crime endangering our safety, and

Had we all realized that they would propose these floating casinos be located near our homes, churches, schools and might well clog traffic in our streets and even on Hwy. 90, and

Had we all of us known these facts, many believe that dockside (?) gambling might well have been disapproved by Hancock County and disapproved by the City of Bay St. Louis by a larger majority.

Therefore, for the above reasons, wouldn't it now be fair and in keeping with our American principle of government of, by, and for the people, that these gambling establishments be located out in the county, away from our populous areas?

Respectfully and Sincerely,
Dwyn M. Mounger

The 23 agencies supported by United Way offer a variety of services for people from pre-birth to old age. Haas said United Way is careful not to support agencies that duplicate services. The organization also reviews the agencies on a regular basis to make sure they continue to meet the United Way's criteria.

"We want to make sure they're not just giving us lip service and not doing what they say they'll do," he stated.

The United Way campaign is run entirely by volunteers, Haas said. He explained that the campaign has a loose structure, with several people dealing with the various divisions.

Volunteers in charge of some divisions are: Gwen Myers, schools; Julie Bosley, county employees; Mary Wemberly, combined federal campaign, United Way of Harrison County; Lee Fredian, Belle Hecker and Evelyn Kibler, Diamondhead.

United Way of Hancock County officers are: Ellis Cuevas, president; Hilda Bourg, vice president; David Treutel Jr., treasurer; Conrad Mauffray, secretary; Haas, campaign chairman; A.C. Adam, 1st vice chairman; and Pat Harvill, special events chairman.

Board of directors members include: Harvill, Betsy Ashman, John Mason, Jeannie Dean, Mike Haas Sr., Roger James, Lous Hall, Charles Benvenuti, Tim Ryan and Robert Kane.

Campaign chairman Haas is looking for innovative ways to involve the community in the work of United Way beyond the giving of their money and time.

He mentioned the Loaned Executive Program, in which four local business people are on loan from their companies and working part-time on the United Way campaign. Those four are Clay Wagner with Hancock Bank, Billy Steckman with Coast Electric, Jay Lagasse of South Central Bell, and Tracy McKinney of DuPont.

Haas quipped that he is the organization's fifth "loaned executive" since he is donating all his time for the next couple of months to the campaign.

A 1984 graduate of the University of Mississippi Law School, he is a local attorney. He and his wife Barbara have one daughter, Caroline.

Other in-kind services also are being donated to United Way, Haas said. Local companies have given the supplies for the organization's traditional thermometer signs, and vo-tech students are constructing and painting the signs. In addition, some local companies help pay travel expenses for United Way officers to events and assist in hosting local meetings and events.

"We're interested in getting people to look beyond donating money and time, to other things, like donating used equipment they no longer need.

only two hours per week per person because there just aren't enough aides for all the people needing assistance.

"Home care is the way of the future for the elderly in our society."

"In the next few years we will see an increase in the number of elderly throughout our communities. These people and their needs must be addressed."

McDonald said the current trend of thought by government services reflects the idea that, "it is less expensive to help someone stay in his home than to place him in a nursing facility."

"I really would like to see more development in the care of the in-home and frail elderly persons."

McDonald spoke of a federal pilot program through which community involvement in addressing the present and future needs of the elderly is explored.

She said, Hancock County Senior Citizen's Center has applied for one of the three $20,000 grants which will be awarded in Mississippi through Project CARE (Community Action to Reach the Elderly) Program.

The funds are to be used in connection with identification of specific needs for the elderly in the area, and to help the community sector traditionally not involved in human services might be recruited to assist.

The idea is to promote a coalition aimed at addressing the needs of an expanding aged population.

Jane Kennedy, director of the Area Agency on Aging of Southern Mississippi, stated the intent of Project CARE is to discover new ways by which the community can be joined in the care of the elderly.

"There is a limit to funding," Kennedy continued, "as we have experienced by the decrease in percentiles of income each year. Costs continue to go up and funding has gone slowly down."

"We must find alternative solutions," McDonald's intent for Project CARE, should Hancock be one of the three communities to be selected, is to develop a respite program.

A respite would be a sitter for the frail and in-house elderly. They would be trained to provide care so that the person who was the full-time caretaker could have some time for himself.

SENIORS BUDGET

The Hancock Senior Citizens Center's 1992 proposed budget consists of $68,060 from the state; approximately $24,000 in-kind services (building, electric, etc.) from the City of Bay St. Louis, $6,000 from the United Way; $4,000 from the City of Waveland and $500 from donations.

The center contracts with Coast Area Transportation for a bus at $26,000 a year. The county pays for the bus service along with a support contribution of $30,000.

The bus picks up Bay St. Louis and Waveland residents Monday through Friday. It makes trips out into the county on specified days of the week to service rural residents.

The elderly are given a time before returning home when they might shop at the grocery and discount stores.

The center's cafeteria daily serves 25 meals for a nominal fee at the center and packages 35 meals for delivered to house bound residents within the Bay-Waveland area.

Those who visit the center are offered a variety of activities from which they may choose.

There is painting, ceramics, macrame, counted cross stitch, silk flowers, ornaments, framing, pine needle craft, sewing and a variety of other activities to keep the place bustling with activity.

At the center, McDonald committed the elderly are assisted with their finances and papers. Should someone need a phone call made to some agency or a letter written, McDonald and her crew of four (three part-time) jump into action on behalf of the senior.

There is a weekly call by a beautician, and a periodic call by a podiatrist, both at reduced rates.

Eye tests, hearing tests, educational lectures, insurance information and other programs are routinely offered.

FILLING A NEED

McDonald said the center is a place where she daily witnesses the promotion of self-worth in the elderly.

"It is important to these people that they have something to do and some place to go. One lady who sticks out in my mind," McDonald related, "told me how good it made her feel when her daughter asked her to come over and pick boiled crabs and she could say, 'No, I can't do that today, I am going to a party at the center'."

"They want to be needed. Here we try to do that. The center is theirs; they can come here and do what ever they like."

McDonald said the elderly are the most overlooked resource in the American culture.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy
McGuire Caire

Many a cook along our Coast is busy roasting and braising meats or poultry these days, judging by the requests I've had for roast and pot roast recipes. Our area supermarkets are truly helping out, with good prices, on beef brisket and boneless beef rump roasts, as well as on Boston Butt pork roasts, whole fryers and baking hens!

Boneless beef rump roasts are excellent for roasting or "pot roasting" as you wish; and both methods are easy on the cook, for you may choose to cook your potatoes and onions and carrots along with the meat, with only one baking pan or pot to clean! And, with the beautiful fall days we've had lately, who wants to stay too long in the kitchen? I'd rather be outdoors!

Sometimes I give my roasts or pot roasts the French touch, cooking them with herbs and red wine; at others, I use the robust Italian accent, with thick, rich red gravy. Sour cream does the honors at other times; and so on.

And, with long cooking and "tender loving care" these roasts will be moist and tender,

POT ROAST
IN SOUR CREAM
1 boneless rump roast (3 1/2 to 4 lbs.)
2 Tbsp. vegetable oil
1/2 cup water
1/2 tsp. beef-flavored bouillon granules
1 bay leaf
1/2 tsp. salt (optional)
1/2 tsp. coarsely ground pepper
2 onions, quartered
2 carrots, scraped and cut into pieces
2 Tbsp. all-purpose flour
3 Tbsp. water
1 (8 oz.) carton commercial sour cream
Hot cooked noodles

Brown roast on all sides in hot oil in a large dutch oven. Combine 1/2 cup water and bouillon granules, and add to the roast in the pot, along with the bay leaf, salt and pepper. Cover, reduce heat and simmer 2 1/2 hours. Add onion and carrot, cover and cook 30 minutes or until vegetables and meat are tender.

Remove roast and vegetables from Dutch oven; keep warm. Remove bay leaf and discard. Combine flour and 3 tablespoons water, and stir into pan drippings. Cook, stirring constantly, until gravy is smooth and thickened. Add sour cream and vegetables to gravy, stirring constantly, until thoroughly heated.

Place cooked noodles on a serving platter. Slice the roast, and arrange over noodles. Serve with gravy. (6 to 8 servings)—from "Southern Living" magazine.

I like to season a 4 or 4 1/2 pound boneless beef roast, usually the rump roast, but also perhaps a top round or rib eye, with pepper and just a bit of salt, then place it in a shallow baking pan, along with two or three quartered onions and a bay leaf and the merest sprinkle of oregano or thyme, then bake it in a preheated—I almost forgot to tell you to preheat the oven!—at 350 degrees for, say, just about an hour for rare, a little longer for well done (or 140 degrees on your meat thermometer for rare, to 160 degrees for well done.)

I add four or five medium baking potatoes, peeled and cut into thirds or quarters 40 minutes before the roast is done the way I want it—medium rare to medium. I like this with gravy from the meat juice, adding a bit of wine if needed. I seldom add flour to make the gravy, just scraping the brown bits from the bottom of the pan!

Baking potatoes are a good buy this week, as are sweet potatoes. Dried and canned beans are also sale-priced. Bananas and apples, along with Bartlett pears and grapes, top the fresh fruit list, and the season's first red grapefruit from Florida are filling the bins.

OLA Food Fest set for October 4-6

BY TRACI BONNEY
Break out the napkins! The Sunday, festivities will again start at noon and end at 6 p.m.

The International Food Fest started nine years ago as a fund raiser for Our Lady Academy. The fest continues with its primary function, but has grown to become a popular event on the Gulf Coast entertainment calendar.

Santa Cruz said the fest was founded by then-principal Sister Virginia Marasco, who "liked to feed people."

Since then, Santa Cruz added, "it's been growing every year. We hope it keeps growing."

Admission to the festival grounds is open to the public without charge.

Passport, Ltd. plays Saturday night at OLA Food Fest.

Ninth International OLA Food Fest is on the way.

The Food Fest, set for October 4-6 next to Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, will feature a number of types of food, including American, Italian, Western, Greek, Oriental, Mexican, German, seafood, desserts and drinks. A special food feature is the cajun cooking of John "Chappy" Chapman, chef and owner of Chappy's Seafood Restaurant in Long Beach.

Grace Santa Cruz, OLA office coordinator for the event, said most of the food is cooked by students' parents and will be sold at $1 per portion.

Other highlights of the fest are children's games, a dunking booth, jail and spacewalk, arts and craft booths and live entertainment.

Santa Cruz commented, "We included lots of children's games and family games this year. Last year, people came but they got the food and left because there wasn't a lot for the children to do. This year, families can come and stay for a while."

Friday night, a fish fry (with takeouts available) will start at 5:30 and end at 9 p.m. while Bo & Dee provide the musical backdrop to the festivities.

Saturday, booth setup will begin in the morning, with beignets and coffee served starting at 7 a.m. The fest will officially open at noon and end at 11 p.m. That night, The Passport, Ltd. of New Orleans will be the featured entertainers.

Passport plays a variety of music from the '50s, '60s and '70s, with costume changes to match their renditions. The group's repertoire includes impersonations of Elvis, the Blues Brothers, the Rolling Stones and the Beatles.

Lewis' TD nullified; Tigers lose 27-0

BY RANDY PONDER

East Marion was unstoppable on the ground, running up a 27-0 victory over the visiting Bay High Tigers Friday night in high school football action.

The Eagles put the ball in the air only two times in the game. One was an incomplete and the other went for a 21 yard touchdown in the third quarter. East Marion received to start the contest and quickly moved 80 yards in 12 plays to take the lead midway through the first quarter. A 2 point attempt was no good.

Bay High appeared to tie the game in the second stanza when quarterback Sam Shepard hit dangerous Floyd Lewis with a sideline pass. Lewis broke loose for a 71 yard score.

But hold everything, the play was nullified when the officials charged the Tigers with illegal motion. Arguing the call resulted in another penalty, this one ten yards for unsportsmanlike conduct.

So instead of maybe taking the lead, Bay High punted from deep in their own territory.

East Marion scored on the next play, a 64 yard run down the right sidelines. The Eagles added a two point conversion to up their advantage to 14-0.

The Tigers came back with perhaps their best drive of the evening.

Starting at their own 32, three plays netted a loss of ten yards and Bay High set up to punt. East Marion ran into the punter, however, giving the Tigers new life at the 35.

Two passes went for naught before Shepard hit Chad Strahan with a 17 yard pass to the Marion 48.

After an incomplete pass, Shepard pitched the ball to Adrian Whavers who passed the pigskin back to Shepard as the QB turned receiver raced downfield. The play covered 13 yards to the 35 and a first down.

The first half ended as the Tigers lost a lateral pass that might have been returned all the way for a TD had the Eagle player not stepped out of bounds.

East Marion started the second half much like the first, with a quick score. Taking over on the Tiger 48 following a punt, they moved to the Bay High 21 on four running plays before connecting on a long pass to the corner of the endzone for a touchdown. A two point conversion attempt failed, leaving the score at 20-0.

Bay High was unable to move on the ensuing kickoff and was forced to punt the ball back to the Eagles.

Starting on their ten yard line, East Marion mounted its final drive of the game. Aided by several penalties against the Tigers, the Eagles ran 15 plays, all on the ground and used six minutes and 50 seconds off the clock. A two yard run up the middle capped the drive and upped the score to 27-0.

With 11:14 left in the one sided contest, the Tigers still had time to get on the scoreboard. Starting at their 31 after the kick, Shepard found Strahan for a 26 yard completion to the Eagle 42.

A pass to Tres Reed moved the markers to the 24. East Marion committed a foul on the play and the officials advanced the ball to the 13.

The Tigers then self destructed. A fumble on the snap resulted in a loss back to the 25. An incomplete pass brought up third and 25. East Marion intercepted the next pass attempt to end the threat and preserve the shutout.

"Give credit to East Marion," Bay High coach Rocky Gaudin said after the game. "They are well coached. They are very explosive."

The Tigers fall to 1-3 on the year and 1-1 in district play. Bay High will host Purvis Friday night at 7:30 pm in another district matchup.

Swamp fun slated at Audubon Zoo

It's time to celebrate the Louisiana swampland! The Audubon Zoo's sixth annual Louisiana Swamp Festival is scheduled for Oct. 5 and 6 and 12 and 13.

The two toe-tapping weekends will be brimming over with swamp culture, food and music. It's a unique setting for a unique festival, offering something no other event can match... the wealth of exotic wildlife at Audubon Zoo's Louisiana Swamp Exhibit.

Snakes, bears and nutria populate the world's only urban swamp at the Audubon Zoo, home to the world's only white alligators.

Zydeco and Cajun music will set the tone for family fun including wildlife shows and fais do-dos. Local artisans will display their wares ranging from woodcarvings to willow furniture.

The Cajun cuisine runs the gamut from authentic to nouvelle, and it's all against the backdrop of the award-winning Louisiana Swamp Exhibit and the Audubon Zoo. Louisiana Swamp Festival activities are free with admission to the Audubon Zoo. For details, phone (504) 861-2537.

Stanislaus edges East Central 21-14

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chows fended off a swarm of late surging East Central Hornets for football victory number four of the season by a 21-14 score Friday night.

Stanislaus took an early lead after kicking to the Hornets and forcing a bad punt on fourth down, giving the Rocks good field position on East Central's 24-yard line.

Three plays later quarterback Bill Dreher scooted around his left for a 18-yard score. Allen Schafer added the PAT giving Stanislaus a 7-0 edge with 9:01 left in the first quarter. Head Rock mentor Ken

Lyons, as the game ended with East Central charging down the field said, "We are happy to win this game, it appears we played only three-quarters."

With minutes left in the game, Stanislaus was leading 21-14, as they missed a long field goal, giving East Central the ball on their own 20-yard line.

East Central's quarterback Brett Miller engineered a drive moving the ball into Rock territory on several running and pass plays, aided by several flags. Stanislaus' defense really tightened, as Kerry Whitmann appeared to take the sting out of the Hornets with a big sack of the quarterback on the next to last play of the game.

East Central bounced back on fourth down, as Miller hit freshman Stephen Briggs with a pass, and he fought his way to just inches of a first down on the 20 as Stanislaus took over the ball with only two seconds left in the game.

East Central tightened the game's score with 7:24 left in the contest, as they scored and added a two-point conversion first score of the night on some strong running by their big fullback Bobby Bister. The PAT was no good giving SSC a 7-6 edge with 44 seconds left in the first quarter.

The Hornets kicked off and a clip set the Rocks back to their own 12-yard line.

Dreher engineered his best drive of the night, a nine play drive from his own 12-yard line, capped by a last second pitchback to Mike Lee for a 6-yard score with 7:59 left in the first half.

Schafer added the extra point giving SSC a 14-6 edge.

The long drive involved several powerful runs by fullback Tate Thriffley, a keeper by Dreher, and a key third down pass to Mickey Quinlan.

Quinlan, who goes both ways for the Rocks, probably made the most crushing stop of the night, as he brought down a Hornet pass receiver as he caught the ball with only a little over a minute left on the clock.

Lyons indicated that Thriffley kept Stanislaus in the game on some key runs during the game.

He felt his team was hot and cold throughout the night playing a good 85% of the time.

Assistant coach Larry Ramsey indicated SSC played better ball in the second half saying, "We shot our self in the foot several times during the game."

Stanislaus now 4-0, is 2-0 in Division 8 Class 4-A and will host Picaune's Maroon Tide.

The encounter with Picaune in football is the first time in many years, as Picaune moved down from Class 5-A to 4-A this season. The Maroon Tide lost by only two points Friday night to Ocean Springs.

Option for score

Mike Lee, (No. 21), far right, follows SSC quarterback Bill Dreher, (No. 14), and seconds before an option pitchout, which Lee took in for St. Stanislaus' second score against East Central during the second quarter action Friday. bringing the score to 21-14 in favor of the Rocks.

Some 19 flags were thrown by officials during the game with three hurting Stanislaus on pass interference.

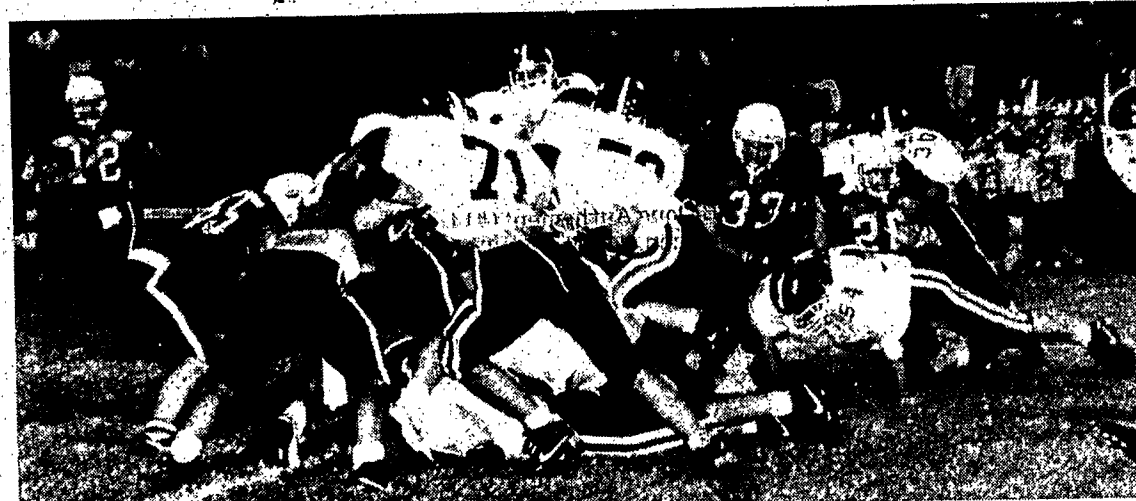

East Central had its second drive of the night stopped on a mid-field fumble recovered by Kirk Edrington.

SSC then turned the ball over to East Central on a punt and the Hornets moved in for their

Hawks SWAT Jackets 33-13

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Hancock Hawks dove for their second kill Friday in St. Martin, winning their division opener 33-13 against the Yellow Jackets.

for a second Hawk TD. The PAT failed, leaving the score at 13-0 with 4:41 on the clock.

It looked like the Jackets would leave the half scoreless, but a seven-play drive, momentarily stalled by an illegal procedure penalty, took St. Martin into the end zone. The PAT was

The third quarter seemed to be a repeat of the first, with neither team able to score. The quarter ended only moments after Hawk Marlon Allen picked off a Yellow Jacket pass attempt, putting the ball into HHS's hands near the goal line.

Less than a minute into the fourth quarter, Terrance Goff took the ball to the 1-yard line in one play, and dove over the line of scrimmage in the next play to secure a third Hawk TD. With a successful PAT, the score was 20-6 with 11:23 left in the game.

The Jackets rallied back, answering the Hawks with a touchdown of their own about three minutes later. The point after was good, leaving the score at 20-13 with 8:32 on the clock.

The Hawks weren't disturbed by that little sting. Eight plays later, with great running and receiving on the parts of Terrance Goff, Jeron "Kid" Vince, Dennis Malley and Radley Ladner, the ball was again at the 1-yard line.

A Terrance Goff quarterback sneak ate up the last yard and pushed the score to 26-13. The PAT failed with 4:38 on the clock.

The Jackets briefly got their hands on the ball, but had to give it back, only to watch "Kid" Vince take it over the goal line again for the evening's final TD. With a good PAT, the Hawks led 33-13 with 1:06 in the game.

The Yellow Jackets kept the ball the rest of the game, but couldn't do anything with it, until the last play. With three seconds on the clock, Yellow Jacket Doug Hitt sent the ball out for a pass, only to have Radley Ladner swipe it to end the game.

Hawk Coach Irvin Favre was pleased with the team's overall performance. He noted their consistency in capitalizing on St. Martin's mistakes, and said, "The team played hard. We had a lot of penalties that hurt us, but the boys played good — hard and gutsy."

"Several of them had injuries, but they kept coming back in and playing."

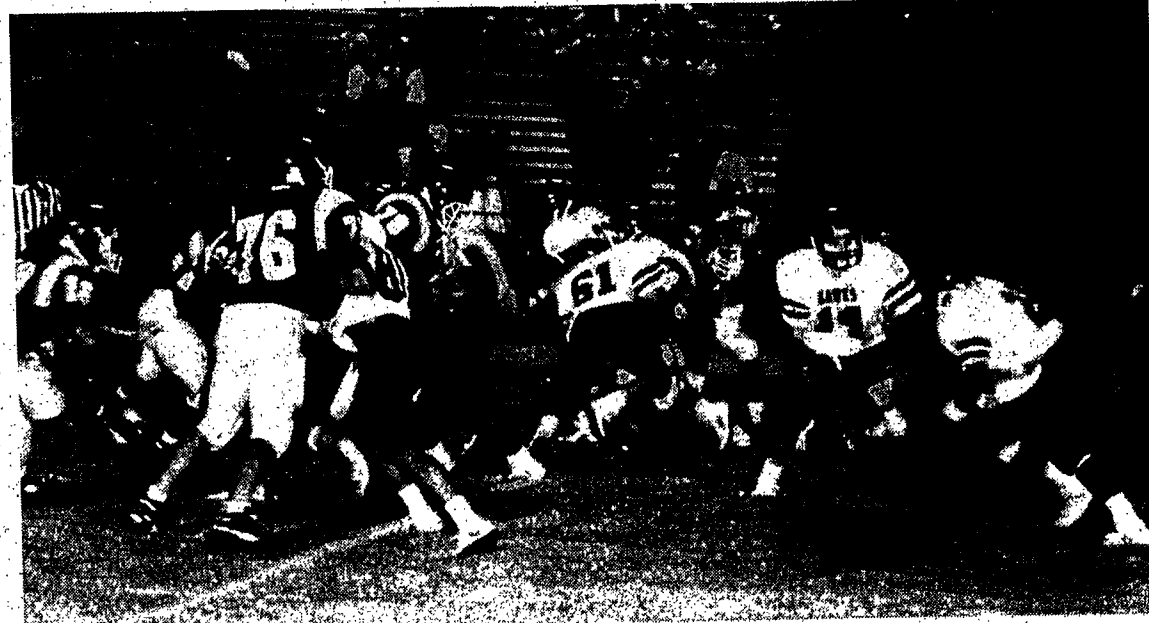

Hancock, now 2-2 for the season and 1-0 in the division, faces d'Iberville Friday at Hawk Stadium.

After a cold start that included a Hawk touchdown nullified by a penalty, the HHS varsity team thawed out midway through the second quarter to score the night's first TD. Bobby Doyle took the ball into the end zone with 6:17 left in the half, and Terrance Goff put the ball between the goal posts for the PAT.

Less than two minutes later, the Yellow Jackets were forced to punt on a fourth down. The ball was knocked out of the air, recovered by David King, and taken back across the goal line cancelled by a penalty, taking the score to 13-6 with 2:05 in the half.

The Hawks were unsuccessful in an attempt to put another TD under their belts in the first half.

Photography contest offered

Luis F. Cordova of Diamond-head Studio and 1 Hour Photo is accepting applications to enter the 1992 Ms. PP of A Photogenic Contest. The nationwide contest awards cash, prizes and an opportunity for national exposure to contestants whose personalities and appearances are captured naturally and attractively in a photograph.

The contest, sponsored by Professional Photographers of America Inc. (PP of A) and Eastman Kodak Company, is open to women 18 years of age or older who enter jointly with a participating photographer.

Entries will be judged on the contestant's appearance, expressions and poise, as well as the lighting and quality of the photos.

A panel of qualified jurors will judge the entries at PP of A headquarters in February. First, second, and third-place winners will be chosen, as well as finalists from each state, province and country. The first-place winner will receive $1,000 and will travel with her photograph to the PP of A International Convention, July 17-22 in Orlando, Fla.

Entries must be postmarked by Dec. 1, 1991.

For further information or for an application, contact Cordova at 255-9803.

Sverdrup Adopt-A-School Program brings physics to HHS students

BY TRACI BONNEY
Hancock High School physics students are experiencing something you don't run across every day — a science teacher with a bent for poetry.

When you walk into the HHS physics classroom, you'll see the usual: a board full of formulae and drawings; a teacher adding to the collection and explaining what it all means; and students hurriedly scribbling notes in an effort to get all that knowledge on paper.

On a recent Thursday, the writing board also was graced with a Robert Burns quote from "Ode to a Mouse": "Aft gang a-gley." Responsible for that poetic pearl, along with a few dozen equations about force and friction, was teacher John Kolodziej, one of seven Sverdrup employees who are team-teaching the 15 Hancock High and two Bay High School students in the physics class.

Kolodziej, an engineering manager at Sverdrup, said he volunteered to teach the class last year under the company's Adopt-A-School Program agreement with the high school. "Actually, I sort of pushed the idea."

He and six other degreed, experienced professionals from Sverdrup teach the class, which more than doubled from last year's enrollment of seven students, on a rotating basis.

This arrangement was made possible when the state legislature passed Ray Mabus' BEST education package but did not find it. Although there were no funds for the entire package, those parts that did not require funding, such as allowing degreed professionals to volunteer to teach classes, were able to be implemented.

Kolodziej said Sverdrup's main concern is with the math and science program, since the Stennis Space Center-based company is a technical one. However, Sverdrup has also made guest speakers available to other classes and has conducted seminars for faculty and staff on such topics as time management.

He commented that student response to the class has been good. However, he admits the class is tough.

"I suspect this is the most difficult class being taught in the school."

The class is presented in a college class format. Kolodziej said the danger is that he and the other teachers must move through the material quickly, which means some students may not do as well as they would if the class's pace were slower.

He said the students' main problem seems to be lack of confidence. "I think the students have a much greater ability than they think they have."

In addition to providing physics teachers and guest speakers, the Adopt-A-School Program has opened the door for Sverdrup to offer students tutoring in math and computer science.

Kolodziej is quick to say he realizes his current teaching position is temporary.

"We're not trying to displace the regular teachers; we want to complement them. I don't see this as a permanent situation; the school could hire a qualified physics teacher tomorrow. But if they do, we will continue to contribute whatever we can to help the school.

"Sverdrup is part of the community. We feel it's part of our civic responsibility to contribute to local education.

"Our real goal is not to improve the school per se; it's to improve what's offered to the students.

Why does Kolodziej want to teach the physics class?

"It's fun; that's one thing I enjoy about it. It's really fun."

All bets off

Gamblers Anonymous seeks to form local group

BY TRACI BONNEY
Although the first casino ship is still months away from mooring in Hancock County, local interest has begun in Gamblers Anonymous.

GA is an international organization formed in 1957 to support and encourage the recovery of compulsive gamblers from their addiction.

For the GA member, recovery starts with acknowledging he is powerless over gambling, that it is a progressive illness that only gets worse, and that the addict wants to recover.

Next, the gambling addict must be willing to turn over his problem to God as he understands Him, make a "fearless moral and financial inventory" of his life, list who he has hurt and be willing to make amends wherever possible and where it does not further injure the one wronged or others associated with him.

This process of inventory and making amends is a continual one, and is to be coupled with taking the Gamblers Anonymous message to other compulsive gamblers who are suffering.

According to a June 2 article in Parade magazine, an estimated 3.5 million adults in the U.S. are compulsive gamblers, along with approximately 1 million high school students and 650,000 college students. Another 35 million adults are estimated to account for most of the $290 billion spent on gambling in the U.S. last year.

In Gamblers Anonymous' literature, characteristics of a compulsive gambler include inability and unwillingness to accept reality, emotional insecurity and immaturity.

The GA literature also gives 20 questions a person can ask himself if he suspects a compulsive gambling addiction. They are:

1. Do you ever lose time from work due to gambling?
2. Does gambling ever make your home life unhappy?
3. Does gambling affect your reputation?
4. Have you ever felt remorse after gambling?

5. Do you ever gamble to get money with which to pay debts or otherwise solve financial problems?
6. Does gambling cause a decrease in your ambition or efficiency?
7. After losing do you feel you must return as soon as possible and win back your losses?
8. After a win do you have a strong urge to return and win more?
9. Do you often gamble until your last dollar was gone?
10. Do you ever borrow to finance your gambling?
11. Have you ever sold anything to finance gambling?
12. Are you reluctant to use "gambling money" for normal expenditures?
13. Does gambling make you careless of the welfare of yourself and your family?
14. Do you ever gamble longer than you had planned?
15. Have you ever gambled to escape worry or trouble?
16. Have you ever committed, or considered committing, an illegal act to finance gambling?
17. Does gambling cause you to have difficulty in sleeping?

18. Do arguments, disappointments or frustrations create within you an urge to gamble?
19. Do you ever have an urge to celebrate any good fortune by a few hours of gambling?
20. Have you ever considered self-destruction as a result of your gambling?

Most compulsive gamblers will answer "yes" to at least seven of these questions.

While an alcoholic may look run down, or a drug addict strung-out, a gambler shows no physical sign of a problem.

"Many are up to their ears in debt without the knowledge of their spouse," he said.

He told the story of a well-heeled friend who seemed to have an endless supply of disposable income, but who had in reality floated bonds and CD's from various lending institutions to keep his $1 million plus gambling debt at bay.

This friend, said Philip, ended up in a federal penitentiary.

"If you look into corporate crime, you will find that a lot of embezzlement is perpetrated to support gambling."

Eight of 10 women in one self-help group were hooked on bingo. "One lady lost $100,000 to a bingo parlor. Bingo is played day and night, and for some it becomes a problem."

With the help of GA, Philip stopped gambling for eight years. The support group has worked for him and worked for others.

A local chapter of Gamblers Anonymous is being formed. The group will meet in Waveland on Wednesday night at 7:30. For location and confidential information, call 255-3413.

Gambling addiction starts with one win

BY JANET MCQUEEN

On his first visit to the New Orleans Fairgrounds, Philip won $80. Not bad money for a 16-year-old in the late 60's.

Five years and hundreds of bets later, Philip was in trouble. "I was betting football games, horses, whatever... You can gamble almost anywhere," he said.

At 21, his father bailed him out—paid the bookmakers, the loans and settled the unpaid bills.

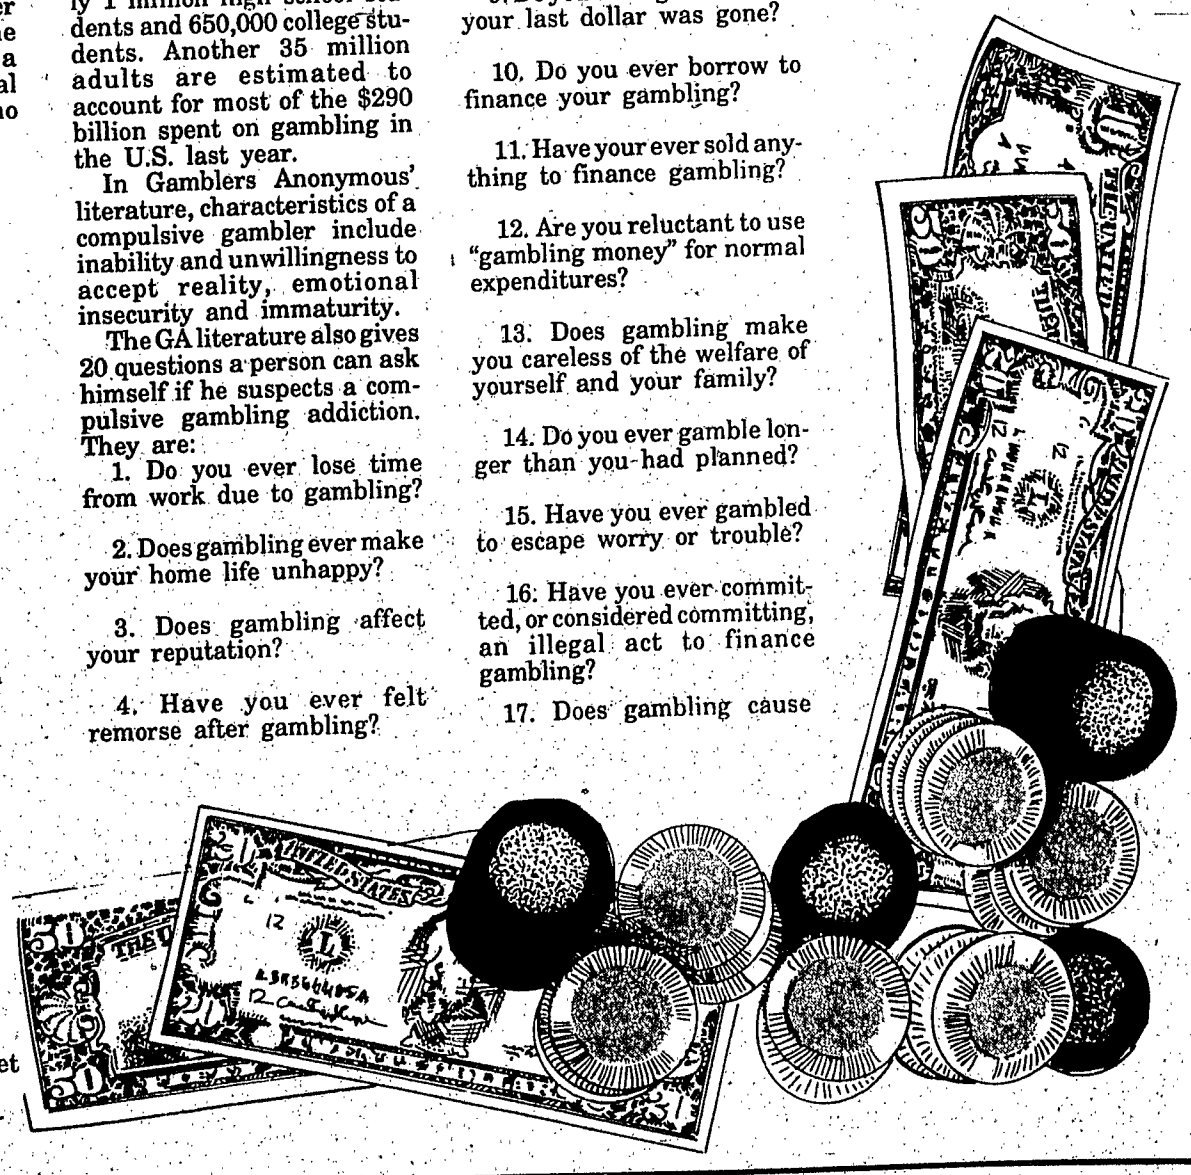

Since joining Gamblers Anonymous, Philip has learned that such bailouts do not treat the problem, an addiction to gambling as powerful as a dependence on alcohol or drugs.

With a clean slate, he slowly fell back into the clutches of "looking for a quick buck."

"The winning keeps you going back," he said, "but you can't beat the bookmaker. You win and you lose, but you're sick."

Many of the persons attending Gamblers Anonymous have admitted to borrowing money, selling valuables and refinancing mortgages to pay off their bad bets. Most of them are "closet gamblers," said Philip.

"While an alcoholic may look run down, or a drug addict strung-out, a TOPSMS 233 Waveland met Tuesday, Sept. 24 at the Waveland Library. Rose was the week's best loser with four pounds.

The chapter welcomed a guest, Connie, and a new member, Rose. Randy and Carol got their six-week loss charms. Carol also received her 10-pound loss charm. A yard sale will be Oct. 12 at D & K Chevron Station, Hwy. 603 and Waveland cut-off between 7 a.m. and noon.

Tops 233 meets every Tuesday at the Waveland Public Library. Weigh-ins are from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. with the meeting immediately following.

Anyone interested in losing weight the sensible way and maintaining that weight loss is welcome to visit the chapter. Interested persons are invited to call Charlotte at 467-5790 for more information.

Pass Christian Senior Citizens

Senior Citizens Activity Center of Pass Christian sponsored the monthly birthday party Sept. 25. The group welcomed guest Mayor Ted Lawyer. Also present were Supervisor David La Rosa and secretary Tracey Daura.

Cecil Dedeaux and Armenta Hall were both ill and unable to attend.

The Senior Citizens Center is open five days a week from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Everyone is invited to participate. Many classes to make things for Halloween and Christmas will be offered. There is no cost, "just come and see." No need to call. City bus will pick up Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. The seniors play bingo on Thursday from noon to 2 p.m. Interested persons may call City Hall for pickup the day before they want to attend.

Clean fun on Saturday nets profit for club

A Saturday car wash in the Kmart parking lot in Waveland yielded a $71 profit for Coast Teens Club, comprised of gifted students in seventh, eighth and ninth grades at Bay High School. ### Diamondhead Garden Club

The Diamondhead Garden Club September meeting was called to order by President Brierley Acker. Betty Cutler introduced guests. Acker announced committee chairmen for the year and thanked Margaret Grace for the outstanding job on the yearbook.

The president reviewed the summer activities. The club participated in the July 4 celebration, contributed money to save the damaged live oak at Beauvoir and mowed the memorial gardens.

The pilgrimage committee has secured five homes and three gardens for the spring pilgrimage.

A new project this year, the club will apply to the National Wildlife Foundation to have the atrium and surrounding area declared a Backyard Wildlife Habitat. This is a nationwide program.

In October, information packets will be available for the membership to apply to have their own backyards declared habitats. It is a fairly simple questionnaire to fill out and the requirements for a habitat are also simple, said Acker.

Horticulture tips for the month were given by Gerri Garberg. Acker demonstrated how to recycle two-liter soda bottles into attractive and functional bird feeders. Four feeders were given away to members.

After the coffee break Annette Saucier introduced the speaker, Lydia Schultz from Lydia's Audubon Shop. She gave an informative and entertaining lecture and slide program on hummingbirds and what to plant in the garden to attract them.

Nereids meet Mon.

The Krewes of Nereids will hold their semi-annual general meeting Monday, Sept. 30 at 7 p.m. at Trapani's Knock-Knock Room in Waveland.

Cub Scout overnighter set

An overnight campout for local Cub Scouts is planned Friday and Saturday, October 11-12 at 4900 Highway 90 (across from Wal-Mart).

For registration and information, contact Tom Williams at 467-4992 or Jim Clark at 467-7693.

Hancock County Republican Women

The Hancock County Republican Women's Club will hold its monthly luncheon meeting at 11 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 3 at the Quality Inn in Diamondhead.

If you are not contacted, please call Dotty Stapleton at 467-4940 or Bette Winkler at 255-3728, as luncheon reservations are a must.

As a money raiser, a Chinese auction will be held. Participants are requested to bring a wrapped article valued in the $5-10 range for this project.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Annunciation Senior Citizens

The Senior Citizens of Annunciation, Kila, held their monthly covered-dish luncheon Wednesday, Sept. 18 at noon in the Parish Center. There were 22 members and guests present. A buffet, desserts and soft drinks were served and enjoyed by all.

Members celebrating September birthdays were Estelle Depreo, Aline Hoda, Lorraine Graft and Lillian Page. Blood pressures were taken by Edna Harrington. A social and bingo game followed the luncheon.

Oct. 23 is the date for the trip to Mendenhall and the Paul B. Johnson Park via Coastliner. The next luncheon will be Oct. 16. Call the rectory, 255-1800, or Estelle Depreo for information.

Pass Christian Garden Club

The Pass Christian Garden Club will meet Thursday, Oct. 3, at 11 a.m. at the Hancock Bank Civic Center, Scenic Drive, Pass Christian.

Hostesses will be Mrs. J. W. Hedgepeth and Mrs. James A. Waggoner.

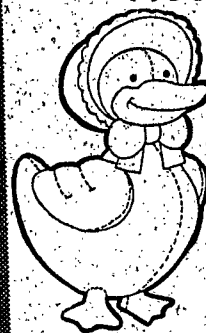

Guest speaker Donald Dana, Mississippi Power Company representative, will speak on "You and Your Flag."

On Oct. 4 the annual craft, plant, bake and white elephant sale will be at Hancock Bank Civic Center from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For further information, call Mrs. McInnis Ward, 452-7161.

VFW Ladies' Auxiliary District 1

The Council of Administration meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies' Auxiliary, Department of Mississippi, was in Jackson this weekend. Department of Mississippi Commander and President, Ken and Gayle Rinewalt, were in charge of business sessions.

Commander Marvel Lowry and President Maggie Richardson of District 1 attended the council meeting.

Department officers attending the First District meeting were Department President Gayle Rinewalt; Senior Vice President Audrey Heyd; Lucille Durden, Lee Melton and Pat Nocaise; Floyd McClellan and Marie Ward; Past Department Presidents Janice White, Hilda Rinewalt, Pat Blakeney and Lee Melton.

The District 1 picnic will be October 5, 11 a.m. Auxiliary President Estelle Depreo asked that everyone attend and have a good time, but contribute their share of the food. She can be reached at 255-1742 to answer any questions.

Biloxi Auxiliary 2434 will host the annual fund raiser on East Howard Avenue November 9, 1 p.m. Each auxiliary is asked to send $25 to Jean Lewis, district treasurer. Donations of cakes are also requested.

Ann Marinovich, chairman of the event, is requesting donations for food baskets. She can be reached at 392-9905.

Learning Ladies Club

The Learning Ladies Homemakers Club held their Sept. 17 meeting at the home of Joan Howard in Jourdan River Shores. President Charlotte Edwards called the meeting to order. There were nine members present. Also attending were eight guests from Howard's former Extension Homemakers Club, The Close Knits, from Metairie, La. Darlene Underwood, home economist for Hancock County, was also invited guest.

After a short meeting, the following special announcements were made to remind members of upcoming events:

Hancock County Extension Homemakers Council meeting will be at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 25, followed by leader training at 10:45 with guest speaker on "Flag Etiquette" at the new Human Resources Complex.

Annual Coast District meeting is Sept. 27 in Lucedale, George County. All members are urged to attend. There will be a car pool for transportation. Call 467-5456 to pre-register.

The meeting was adjourned, followed by a program given by the hostess. She demonstrated how to make a centerpiece using drift wood, swamp holly, cattails, pines cones, wild button flowers and other materials grown in this area, which she had collected and prepared in advance. Each person made an original centerpiece.

After the workshop, the RSVP Senior Singers, who had been invited by Howard, arrived and serenaded the group with music.

All enjoyed a delicious spaghetti and meatball lunch served with salads and desserts.

The club expressed thanks and appreciation to the Close Knit Club members and their officers, Mrs. Jo Ann Lagasse and the Senior Singers for contributing to the meeting.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Exnicious-Loftin

St. Clare Catholic Church in Waveland was the setting for the August 24 wedding of Melissa Gail Loftin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Loftin of Enterprise, to Kirk Allan Exnicious, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Exnicious of Waveland. Father Manning officiated the afternoon ceremony.

Music was provided by organist James Varnell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin with V-neckline on a fitted bodice which was overlaid with pearly Alencon lace. The lace appliqued long sleeves featured a shoulder puff. The back dipped to a V above a lace trimmed peplum adorned with lace, and the train extended to chapel length.

She wore a V-band headpiece with rose accented bow at the back which held a fingertip veil of illusion.

Kristen Hjelm was maid of honor. Lu Ann Williams was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Ann Hathorne and Jennifer Craft.

The attendants wore formal gowns of black and white taffeta with princess bodices and full flared skirts. Alternate layers of black and white ruffles formed the sleeves and encircled the upper backs.

Flower girls were Brandi and Michelle Williams. Justin Fayard was ring bearer.

Kenny Johnston was best man. Daniel Adams, Jeremiah Edwards, Russell Smith, Eric Nolan and Carroll Glindmeyer Jr. were ushers.

A reception was held at the Diamondhead Community Center following the ceremony.

Prior to the wedding, the groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at their house. Other pre-nuptial parties included two showers, one hosted by Cathy McFall in Diamondhead and the other given by the groom's family at his mother's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk A. Exnicious

The couple is making their home in Bay St. Louis.

Paul-Ramsey

Diamondhead Baptist Church was the setting for the August 24 wedding of Kelly Kay Ramsey of Waveland and George Lovell Paul of Diamondhead. Rev. Paul Oglesbee officiated the afternoon ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Josie A. and Ralph D. Ramsey of Waveland. The groom is the son of Syble R. Paul of Diamondhead and the late Wiley L. Paul. Music was provided by soloist Mrs. LaVera Warren and pianist Mrs. Gloria Dupree.

The bride wore a formal white satin gown with a plunge neckline, with a sabrina neckline lace overlay. The puffed sleeves tapered to the wrist, and the drop-waist bodice of Alencon lace was accented with pearls and iridescent sequins. The full chapel length train was hemmed in scalloped lace.

The bride's veil was held by a wreath of white silk flowers accented with iridescent sequins and lace. The double-tier veil started from a pearl-accented double pouf at the back of the wreath.

The bridal bouquet included a dozen long-stemmed pink tea roses with a Reuben lily at the base, accented with bear grass and ivy and tied with a gold bow and ribbons.

Karen Angle was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Cynthia Fuller and Linda Scianna.

Attendants wore identical ankle-length gowns of gold lame. The strapless, drop-waist bodices were accented with overlays of gold metallic lace.

Each attendant carried a brass, globed chamber lamp with a cascade of gold ribbons and ivy. Steve Friedman was best man. Groomsmen were Lee Paul and Richmond Wall. Ushers were Chris Bledsoe and Gary Sullivan.

A reception followed in the church's fellowship hall.

After a honeymoon trip to Aspen, Colo., the couple are making their residence in Boston, Mass.

Pre-Nuptial Parties

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's mother at the Diamondhead Community Center.

A lingerie shower was hosted by the maid of honor in Starkville in May. A miscellaneous shower was hosted in August by Linda Scianna, Beverly Scianna and Marry Ann Benvenutti in her home, and a bridesmaids' dinner was hosted by the bride at Chappy's Restaurant.

Story hour titles told

"Hats! Hats! Hats!" will be the theme for this week's children's story hour at the City County Public Library, Hwy. 90, Bay St. Louis.

Benny's Four Hats, The Witch's Hat and The Hat are the books to be featured Wednesday, Oct. 2 at 10:30 a.m. at the City-County Public Library.

Children will make and color monkey headbands and see the film, "The Cat in the Hat."

"Pigs" will be the theme Friday, Oct. 4 at 10:30 a.m. at the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue.

The Old Woman and Her Pig and Pig Tales are the books to be read. Children attending will do a tell and draw story, a flannelboard story and see two finger plays.

Weekly story hours are held at both libraries from September through May. Programs last approximately one hour. Activities are designed for pre-school age children three to five years old who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group.

Further information is available by calling Sandra Ladner at the City-County Library, 467-5282, or Karen Peoples at the Waveland Library at 467-9240.

Great Books group to discuss 'On Liberty'

On Liberty, by John Stuart Mill, will be the featured book for discussion at the Great Books Discussion Group meeting Thursday, Oct. 3 at 1 and 7 p.m. in the meeting room of the City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis.

Mississippi writer Hiram Hurbert Creekmore's work, The Chain in the Heart, will also be discussed during the meeting.

The Great Book Discussion Group is sponsored by the library and there is no cost unless one wishes to have one's own copy of the discussion books and materials.

Further information on the meeting can be obtained by contacting either of the two co-leaders: Richard McCulloch at 467-6333; Gail Raymond at 466-4655; or the library at 467-5282.

Wilcox paintings displayed at Waveland Library in Oct.

The watercolor and acrylic paintings of local artist Celia Wilcox will be on display at the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue from Oct. 1 through 19.

Wilcox, who resides in Clermont Harbor, holds a bachelor's degree in art education from Oral Roberts University and a master's degree in education from the University of Southern Mississippi.

The exhibit will be open to the public at the Waveland Library during regular business hours.

Pass Library offers children's activities

The Pass Christian Public Library, located at 111 Heirn Avenue, sponsors the following activities for children:

Story Times

Tuesdays at 9 a.m. for kindergarten and pre-kindergarten-aged children; every other Tuesday, a story time for tiny tots at 10:30 a.m. (call for dates);

Wednesdays at 10:15 a.m. for four- and five-year-olds. Occasional drop-ins should call first;

Thursdays at 10:15 a.m. for three- and almost four-year-olds. Occasional drop-ins should call.

The above will be the Pass Christian Library schedule until the beginning of the summer reading program.

Why compete?

A DIFFERENT VIEW

By Traci Bonney

In case you haven't noticed, we've been running a full-page "football picks" ad page the past few weeks.

Some of us loyal Echo employees and management people were drafted to give our picks for 10 games — high school, college and pro — each week. The public is invited to participate as well.

There's a savings bond up for grabs for the most accurate picker among our readers each week, but for us, it's just the fun of seeing how accurate we can be — or for some of us, how inaccurate.

A few minutes ago, I heard Ellis asking someone how he is doing on his picks so far, and someone else reminded him jokingly that there's no money in this for us.

I won't pretend to read my boss's mind on the matter, but my guess is that he wants to know how well he's doing just for the sake of knowing. At least, that's how I am about such things.

Call it pure competitiveness. It's the need to do well, and if you're not doing well, to do better.

Do you play solitaire? I do occasionally, not often any more, but when I do, if I hit a losing streak, I may stay up for hours past my normal bedtime until I win a game.

That's one reason I no longer play solitaire very often.

My point, though, is this: Even if I'm not competing against another person, I can become very competitive.

This may sound strange to you, but sometimes I play two-person games — like Go Fish, checkers or Monopoly — by myself. I'll play both hands or both sides of the board, trying in the case of card games to play each hand as though I don't know what the other hand has in it.

I know: Traci, you're almost 26 years old. Don't you think that's a little old to play Pretend?

No, but that's not what I'm driving at anyway.

What I'm saying is that we humans are competitive beings. With wild animals, it's the need to survive that keeps them competitive. With us, it's simply the need to be the best.

I know I'm not the only one who competes against myself. Oh, come on; admit it. You do, too.

If you're a golfer, you try to better your game, whether you're in a foursome or you're hitting the links solo. If you're a runner, you try to trim down your race time.

If you like to do needlework, you try to increase your time, efficiency and accuracy without sacrificing the quality of your work. If you're a cook, you want to improve the flavor and texture of your food, the speed with which you prepare a meal, or the quality of its presentation. In short, if you care about anything at all, there is at least one area in your life — probably several — in which you try to improve.

That's what being competitive is about. That's why being Number One is almost never as thrilling as getting there.

That's why Ellis wanted to know how well he's doing with his picks, and why I compared mine to everyone else's about five minutes ago.

THESE PAGES BRING YOU THE WORLD AND YOUR HOME TOWN

Your newspaper is just a few cents' worth of paper and ink, but its real value is incalculable. It's your window on the world, or at least on your home town. Through it you learn what's happening, and perhaps some conflicting opinions about it. You'll read the publisher's views, those of some guest columnists, and in the letter section, those of your neighbors. You may be motivated to add your own on occasion. You will receive some good advice on health and other subjects, and learn of upcoming events in your community, including hearings on matters of local concern. Another vital service of your newspaper is the House of Worship directory, representing one more great freedom in this land of ours, of which your newspaper itself is a leading symbol.

Where the press is free and every man able to read, all is safe.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
TO PAUL PASSININO, WHOSE LAST ADDRESS IS UNKNOWN AFTER DILIGENT SEARCH AND INQUIRY.

Pursuant to Ordinance #192 of the City of Waveland, notice is hereby given that a hearing will be held by the governing authorities of the City of Waveland on November 5, 1991 at the regular meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen at 7:30 P.M. at the Annex of the City Hall to determine whether or not your parcel of land fully described as Lots 14B and Part 14C, 2nd Ward, Waveland, is a menace to the public health and safety of the community.

If the property is adjudicated to be a menace and the owner does not undertake to clean the property, the governing authorities may proceed to have the land cleared and assess the actual costs of the clearing, up to $5,000.00. Said cost will be a lien against the property which, if not satisfied, will result in the sale of the property to satisfy such assessment.

Witness my signature this 27th day of September, 1991.

DeSilvey as joint tenants with right of survivorship dated October 28, 1986 and filed for record in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi on December 1, 1986 at 10:35 a.m. and recorded in Deed of Trust Book 299 at pages 46-49; and

WHEREAS, Peter R. Falgout and Ella P. DeSilvey acquired the interest of Arnold J. DeSilvey, deceased, upon the said decedent's death which occurred on December 17, 1990; AND

WHEREAS, Peter R. Falgout and Ella P. DeSilvey appointed and substituted Clement S. Benvenuti as substituted trustee in place and stead of James G. Tucker III as was their right to do under the terms of the said Deed of Trust, said substitution of trustee being dated July 23, 1991 and filed for record in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi on August 16, 1991 and recorded in Deed of Trust Book 355 at pages 651-653; and

WHEREAS, Default having been made in the terms and conditions of the said Deed of Trust and the entire debt secured having been declared due and payable in accordance with the terms of the said Deed of Trust and the legal holder of the said indebtedness, Peter R. Falgout and Ella P. DeSilvey having requested the undersigned substituted trustee to execute the trust and sell said land and property in accordance with the terms of the said Deed of Trust for the purpose of raising sums due thereunder, together with attorney's fees and expenses of sale;

NOW THEREFORE, the undersigned substituted trustee pursuant to the authority and requests so made does hereby give notice that he will sell during legal hours (between the hours of 11:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.) on the 14th day of October, 1991 at the main front door of the Hancock County Courthouse, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, for cash to the highest and best bidder the following described land and property located and being situated in Hancock County, Mississippi and being more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Lots 38 through 41, inclusive, Block 303, Bayside Park Subdivision, Unit No. 6, Hancock County, Mississippi as per the official map or plat of said subdivision on file and of record in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi.

Title to the above described land and property is believed to be good but I will convey only such title as is vested in me as substituted trustee.

WITNESS MY SIGNATURE, this 25th day of September, 1991.

On September 18, 1991, we went shopping at a local competitor and compared WINN-DIXIE prices on national brand items. What we found will astound you. Winn-Dixie was substantially lower on virtually every item. Some of our Competitors' prices may have changed since then. HOW CAN YOU AFFORD TO SHOP ANYWHERE ELSE?
